The growing vogue for cooking and serving in the Guernsey is really inexpensive. The smaller dishes cost but a few cents—the large casseroles cost no more than a good granite saucepan.

more about the new way to cook and serve in the same

DR. H. B. NIXON TAKEN BY DEATH

Lingering illness Results Fata-ly for College Professor, Beloved by Hundreds of his Former Students.

Dr. Henry B. Nixon, for the past twenty six years professor of mathematics and astronomy at Gettysburg College, died at his home on Carlisle street at seven o'clock this morning after an illness of three months from paralysis and complications. He was aged 58 years, 6 months, and 21 days.

Dr. Nixon had not been in robust health for several years, but his fatal illness dated from the evening of December 21st when he was suddenly stricken while sitting in a chair at his home. He rallied from this attack and improved steadily for a time, but for several weeks past there had been a marked unfavorable change caused by the development of a dropsical condition and other complications.

He retained his mental faculties up to the very last, talking only a half hour before he slept peacefully away.

Dr. Nixon was one of the most popular men who ever held a professorship at Gettysburg College. His knowledge of the subjects he taught was unquestioned, and the students respected his ability most highly. But coupled with this was a most remarkable personal interest in every boy who came under his teaching. He had an intimate personal knowledge of every one of them, and this interest continued long after they had left college so that he could tell at any time where almost every one of his former students was located, what was his occupation or profession, and how he was succeeding in life. Possessed of a keen sense of humor, and a real interest in the success and welfare of the boys, he was always sought by them when they returned to the town and his death will mean a personal loss to hundreds of college graduates.

The same genial nature which made Dr. Nixon a favorite among the college boys also made him popular in the town. Not many of the members of the college faculty have ever known personally so large a number of the people of town. Dr. Nixon was affable, courteous, a friend to all, a thorough gentleman.

Henry Barber Nixon was of English descent and a native of North Carolina, having been born at Winfall, September 9, 1857, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nixon. He prepared for college at Hertford Academy. When he finished his course there he entered the University of North Carolina, from the Civil Engineering Department of which institution he was graduated in 1878. The next four years were spent in teaching in North Carolina and in profitable private study.

He went to Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in 1882 to pursue graduate study, holding a scholarship until 1884 and a fellowship for the next year, teaching mathematics in connection with the latter. He was a fellow from 1885 to 1887 and received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1886. The next year he extended this post-graduate work to applied electricity. In 1888 Professor Croll, who occupied the chair of mathematics and astronomy in Gettysburg College, was taken ill and Dr. Nixon was appointed instructor in his department during his enforced absence.
After Prof. Croll's death, Dr. Nixon was elected to the full professorship which he held up to the time of his death.

REFUSE JOBS TO STRIKING YOUTHS

Those who Started Trouble at Littlestown Silk Mill Cannot Return to Work if they Want to. Get Others in their Places.

Twelve of the twenty nine employees of the Littlestown silk mill, who struck for higher wages on Tuesday, have been notified that their services will no longer be required. The others may return to work at the old scale of wages if they see fit. This announcement was made at the plant this morning, the management taking definite measures to show that the employees could not dictate the policy of the mill.

The twelve young men who cannot return if they want to are the ones who are blamed for starting the present trouble. On Tuesday morning, when they went to work, they made a united demand for higher wages and Mr. Thomas, the manager, told them that it would be impossible to grant their request. The Littlestown mill, he told them, pays a higher wage for spinners than does any other mill in the country. They, thereupon, walked out.

The night force, numbering nineteen, heard of the affair, and seventeen of them went out on a sympathy strike. These youths get $9.00 a week and it is said that they are well paid for their work. They are generally between 15 and 18 years of age.
Mr. Thomas will allow them to come back within a certain time at their former wages.

In the meantime other hands are being secured to take the places of the strikers. Beginners are being taught quickly the manner of operating the machines. This morning seventy five per cent of the hundred or more hands were at work and it is expected that, in a few days, after the spinners' positions have been filled, the striking ones will be very little missed.

SCHOOL BOARD TROUBLE

Judge Gillan Orders Directors to Show why they Shouldn't be Dropped.

Judge W. Rush Gillan has filed an opinion in Franklin County Court in which he threatened to oust all of the Washington township school directors from their offices because they had appropriated to themselves commissions that could be accepted only by the board's secretary and treasurer.

Elected of the township brought charges against the directors and the directors then filed an "answer" to the suit, asking the court to dismiss the proceedings. Instead the court threw the directors' answer out and issued a court rule on the directors requiring the members of the board to show cause, within ten days, why they should not be ousted from the school board.

The directors, it is said, made no effort to conceal the fact that they had accepted the commissions. In fact the board's minutes contain a record of the proceedings at which it was decided to "donate" the money to the directors, discovery of which was made by a lawyer when the directors had their books in court in another proceeding.

MAKING CHANGES

Work Evidently Due to be Pushed at Local Resort.

Actual work has been started at remodeling portions of the Springs Hotel. The plans call for the installation of private baths for twenty five of the rooms on both the first and second sleeping floors. The third floor will, it is understood, be made a full story in height. Improvements are also contemplated for the exterior. Charles O. Marquette, who is directing the work, has succeeded A.
H. B. Ring as treasurer of the company.

FARMER GIVES COLLEGE $4000

But Refuses to Allow his Name to be Connected with the Gift. Does not Specify Purpose for which it is to be Used.

From a Central Pennsylvania farmer who has made a request that his name shall not become known in connection with the gift, President Granville of the college has received the substantial donation of $4000.
The news of the contribution was given out from the "White House" on Wednesday evening.

The gift is unusual for its size, its source, and the request for no publicity. Contributions of this amount from private individuals who do not possess unusual wealth are very rare; the ordinary farmer usually does not have the means to contribute so liberally to the cause of education; and the individual who supports any public institution in so generous a fashion is not always averse to publicity. In discussing the giver Dr. Granville says:

"I am not at liberty to give his name, because he contributes on the basis, 'Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth.' It is needless to state that the donor is a staunch Lutheran who is not only very active in his local church but has always kept in close touch with the interests of the church at large.

"The donor of this $4000 is deeply interested in the cause of higher Christian education in general, and in the great need of the church for more ministers of the Gospel in particular. By means of this generous gift he will not only very materially promote the interests of the church, which are close to his heart, but it is hoped that his example will stimulate others to help our institution in the same substantial manner."

The purpose to which the money will be devoted is not stated.

College and town men, who have been in touch with athletics at the institution for some years, have had their heads together recently and have picked three "All Gettysburg" teams from the athletes of the past ten seasons, the effort being to name the best men for the various positions.
Their selections, which with but few, if any, exceptions will meet with popular approval, are as follows:

Foot Ball: Wise, Swartz, Benner, Aldinger, Beggle, Snyder, Pownall, for the line; Lammert and Hoar, as quarter backs; Sieber, Shearer, and Brumbaugh ("Bruiser") for the backs.

Basket Ball: Sieber, Ficus, Campbell, Brumbaugh ("Brummy"), Ma-haffie.
Base Ball: Ehrhart, Jenkins, Beaver, Hoar, Sherman, and Howard, pitchers; McCarrell and Mahaffie, catchers; James, Sieber, Williams, and "Charlie" Lantz for the infield; Himes, Weimer, and "Buck" Rowe, for the outfield.

It will be noted that Paul Sieber, a Gettysburg boy, is the only one listed for all three teams, so that he merits the title of the institution's best all-round athlete. Hoar and Mahaffie are second, being the only ones picked for two teams.

JEWELRY STOLEN

While Players are Absent Dressing Room is Entered.

The benefit game between the college and Xavier Club basketball teams Wednesday evening resulted in a victory of 59 to 8 for the former.
The town quintet were too light for their more experienced opponents.
During the evening some one entered the dressing rooms in Xavier Hall and took a watch belonging to one of the Xavier Club players and a ring belonging to one of the college boys.

WILL TELL OF MORMON FAULTS

Former Member of the Faith Coming to Gettysburg to Lecture on System of Church which is Gaining Strength.

Pennsylvania is to be the battle ground of the war against the spread of Mormonism in America and on April 5, the Ex-Mormon Elder Vernon J. Danielson comes to make an alleged expose of the Mormon practices in presentable language in the St. James Lutheran church at 8 p. m.

He proposes to show the insidious character of the teaching of the Mormon Church which he says "conducts a system of plural marriages which has become such a part of the social and religious life of the Mormon Kingdom that the victims of the system find themselves unable either to denounce the system or free themselves from the moral lepers that hold them in eternal bondage."

The advance notice of the meeting says: "It is proposed to enlist all who are concerned in protecting the homes of American women from raids by Mormon elders. Educators, Sunday School teachers, social workers, philanthropists and all manner of active citizens seeking the betterment of the American home are requested to communicate with the Rev. Dr.
James S. Martin, general superintendent of the National Reform Association, Pittsburgh, indicating the department they can render the greatest service. Exact and verified information concerning aggressions of Mormon missionaries here is most earnestly sought as such facts are to be used in prospective action sought from Congress.

"It is these and more vital issues that Elder Danielson comes here on April 5 to discuss in St. James church."

MANY DUPED

Chambersburg Folk Lose Lot of Money in Scheme.

A large number of Chambersburg people purchased membership in the Reliable Home Furniture Co. with headquarters in Washington, D. C., by paying 25 cents a week. The plan of the company was that each week one of the members of a club of 75 members would draw a handsome piece of furniture and would then retire from the club. The person who was awarded the furniture the first week, paid only 25 cents for it; the person who got the second week's prize paid 50 cents, and so on.

For a number of weeks furniture, of good and indifferent sorts, was given to the members of the club but five weeks ago the collector for the company stopped making his rounds and since then no furniture has been awarded. Some people recently became alarmed and began an investigation which showed that the proprietors of the company had been before the courts in Washington for violating the District of Columbia lottery laws and each paid fines.

FOR ARGUMENT

York Springs Hotel Case will be Given Hearing.

The Court has granted a rule on Ir-revoked. The rule is returnable April 24th when the matter will be argued.

This is the outgrowth of the petitions filed last week, regarding the application of Mr. Weaver for license.

GOOD ROADS DAY IS APPOINTED

Governor Brumbaugh Issues Call to Everybody to Lend Assistance in Making Annual Event Successful.

Adams County residents who turned out so readily last year to co-operate with the State-wide Good Roads Day will be interested in the proclamation of Governor Brumbaugh, made public this morning, that a similar event will be held this year on Thursday, May 25th. The Governor's proclamation says in part:

"I, Martin G. Brumbaugh, Governor of this Commonwealth, fully in sympathy with the purposes of this and every movement that holds promise of better road conditions for our people and deeply concerned to stimulate in every proper way a State-wide interest in good roads, and resolved, even with inadequate appropriations, to make our state highways safe, comfortable and permanent avenues of travel, do make this proclamation:

"That each and every supervisor of the townships of this Commonwealth is obligated by law and in good conscience to give this movement cordial support and to make this day memorable in greatly improved public roads;

"That all our citizens, having a patriotic regard for this great Commonwealth shall so plan their personal duties as to give the entire day to the improvement of our highways or contribute to the proper local authorities such sum in money or such material as will add to the substantial good the day should accomplish;

"That all our citizens, living in villages or towns, and owning automobiles go on this day to the country and volunteer their services in adding to the safety and comfort of themselves and others when traveling upon our highways; and

"That this day may be a Statewide, memorable action upon the part of our people in the performance of a great public service, to which the State Department of Highways will most cordially give its support and co-operative assistance. I hereby designate and set aside Thursday, May 25, 1916, as State Wide Good Roads Day in Pennsylvania."

30 KILLED IN TRIPLE WRECK

They Are Ground to Death as Trains Collide.

FORTY OTHERS ARE INJURED

Section of Express Hits Another in Ohio and 20th Century Limited Plows into the Debris.

Cleveland, O., March 30.—With a toll of thirty persons dead and forty or more injured, federal and state officials and officials of the railroad company began an investigation into the cause that led to one of the most disastrous wrecks that has occurred in this state in a dozen years and one of the worst in the history of the New York Central system.

Three trains, including the Twentieth Century Limited, westbound, the New York Central's palatial flyer; and two sections of No. 86, known as the Chicago-Pittsburgh limited, eastbound, came together in collision near Amherst, O., thirty-seven miles west of Cleveland.

Reports generally credited were that the first and second sections of No. 86 were proceeding at a rapid rate, and at some points were only a mile or so apart. When the second section crashed into the first section, the Twentieth Century limited plowed into the wreckage of the first two trains, which bulged over the parallel tracks; and the three were thrown into an indescribable mass.

The great coaches and locomotives of No. 86 were toppled over and wreckage was piled thirty feet in the air. The cars were smashed to junk. Fourteen coaches upset.

The Twentieth Century limited, notwithstanding its impact with the debris from the other trains, emerged almost unscathed, and proceeded on its westward journey, its passengers uninjured except for a severe shaking up.

A pall of fog from Lake Erie had settled down over northern Ohio. This, with the alleged failure of a towerman to do his duty under the rules, was ascribed by some of the railroad officials as the cause of the wreck.

Scenes of terrible confusion followed the catastrophe. Many of the injured, pinned in the wreckage, called pitifully for help as uninjured passengers, half-clad, quickly emerged from the sleepers and joined with trainmen and others in the rescue work.

A bonfire from some of the wreckage brought the first rays of light on the scene of desolation and death. Firemen from Amherst were among the first arrivals and soon succeeded in quenching the flames.

The fire was in the one wooden coach of train No. 86, now known as the "death coach," because of the fact that most of the fatalities occurred in it.

Many of the dead probably will go to their graves unidentified. Most of those killed were asleep in the rear day-coach of the first train No. 86 at the time of the crash, and they had removed wraps and coats and other articles of identifying clothing.

The bodies of many of these scantily clad victims are so mangled that identification, without the guidance of the clothing they wore will be impossible. Some were decapitated. Arms, legs and portions of bodies were scattered thickly through the wreckage.

Relief parties collected the bodies of three persons—those of a woman and two men—piled them indiscriminately in one basket. They probably will be buried together.

The body of one fireman, badly crushed, was found on top of the boiler of one of the locomotives. Some of the members of the crews of the three trains involved in the wreck escaped with scratches and bruises.

U-BOAT MENACED SURVIVORS

Tried Twice to Torpedo Destroyer Taking Sussex Passengers to Port.

London, March 30.—It was learned from a high official that two submarines were made by a German submarine to torpedo a British destroyer which was carrying survivors of the Sussex to port.

A piece of bronze taken from the Sussex by a destroyer may be sent to Washington as soon as the admiralty makes it report. The American embassy is now awaiting the official report.

If the state department at Washington wishes to make its own examination in the hope of determining whether the piece of bronze is a fragment of a torpedo the admiralty is not expected to object to the forwarding of evidence in its possession.

W. H. Page, the American ambassador, has obtained from the British government formal assurance that the Sussex was unarmed.

Girl Strikers Fight in Vain.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 30.—City policemen stopped a battle between strikers and cigar makers, all girls, in a rain storm. Seventy-five cigar makers, mostly from foreign families, struck for more wages and when other girls refused to join them prepared to prevent them from entering the factory. Umbrellas and lunch boxes were used as weapons. Arbitration is now under way.

RUSSIA HURLS VAST FORCES AGAINST FOE

Germans Assert Attackers Lost 80,000 Men.

London, March 30.—An official statement issued in Berlin says the Russians have attacked in their new offensive in the Postavy region with sixty divisions over a front of seventy five miles, and that their losses have not been less than 80,000 men.

The Russian war office communication says:

"In the Riga sector there has been artillery and rifle firing. Our artillery has done effective work on enemy trenches and batteries west of Olai and before the Ikskull bridgehead."

"On the Jacobstadt sector, after a bombardment, the Germans opened an attack in the region of the village of Vargunek, but were repulsed."

"In the region northwest of Postavy the enemy is offering desperate resistance, making furious counter attacks at some points."

"In the region west of Lake Narocz the enemy occupied a wood south of the village of Mockryze, but by counter attacks we dislodged him from the northern part of the wood, capturing two machine guns and a number of prisoners."

"In the region of the Rakitno marsh and the sectors of this front north and south the engagements continue."

"In Galicia, in the region north of Bejana, we exploded simultaneously thirteen mines, and our infantry immediately afterward rushed across two lines of enemy trenches, killing the surviving defenders of the works with hand grenades and in hand-to-hand fighting. We took 125 prisoners, two machine guns, a trench, mortar, a mine thrower, a searchlight and a quantity of small arms."

"Five enemy guns which were taken during the action were made completely useless, as we were unable to remove them."

AIR RAID ENRAGES GREEKS

Attack on Salonika by Germans Called "Assassination" in Chamber.

Paris, March 30.—Twenty persons were killed, between thirty and forty were wounded and two German aeroplanes were destroyed by French aviators in the aerial raid over Salonika on Monday, says an official statement issued here.

The German squadron was composed of seven aeroplanes. Their purpose was to reach the warships anchored in the harbor but they were obliged to give this up by the fire of the French artillery.

Raid Arouses Greeks.

Athens, March 30.—The aerial bombardment of Salonika, involving the death of Greek soldiers and civilians, has aroused deep feeling here, which finds expression in bitter editorials in the Liberal press against the continued neutrality of Greece.

The question of declaration of martial law was again raised in an exciting session of the chamber of deputies. The raid was characterized in the chamber as "simply assassination," and as "German frightfulness" designed to intimidate the Greeks.

French General Killed.

Paris, March 30.—Grigadier General Larzeau, one of the younger French high commanders, has been killed in action near Verdun. General Larzeau was one of the members of the Marchand expedition, whose arrival at Fashoda, after crossing the African jungle, almost brought about a clash between Great Britain and France many years ago.

GERMANS GAIN, FRENCH HIT BACK

Fierce Battles Are Resumed Along Verdun Front.

THE LOSSES ARE SERIOUS

Teutons Storm Positions Along Mile Front at Malancourt—French Retake Avocourt Wood.

London, March 30.—The Germans have made another notable gain in their drive against Verdun, according to the official announcement from Berlin, storming French positions north of Malancourt to the depth of several lines along a front of 2000 meters, or more than a mile.

Malancourt lies about nine miles northwest of Verdun and some two and a half miles northeast of the southern tip of the Avocourt wood, into which the Germans pushed their recent great drive west of the Meuse. Apparently the German assault was on the westerly side of the salient, where Paris reported a heavy attack by the Germans, declaring, however, it had been repulsed.

The Paris statement asserted that the Germans made no fresh assault upon the Malancourt front, claiming on the other hand, that French forces had won a success against the Germans in the Avocourt wood, the northwestern corner of which they occupied to a depth of 300 yards, besides capturing a strongly fortified redoubt. The text of the French war office statement follows:

"In the Argonne district our batteries have bombarded the positions of the Germans north of Haute Chevauchee and on the southern boundary of the wood of Cheppy. A fight with hand grenades, made in conjunction with activity in the next sector, made it possible for us to make progress, particularly in the connecting trenches of the enemy to the north of Avocourt. We also took several prisoners."

"To the west of the Meuse, the enemy made no fresh effort against our positions at Haucourt and Malancourt. The bombardment, however, assumed a certain intensity along our front at Belhincourt, Le Mort Homme and Camerbec."

"In the morning, after intense preparatory fire, our troops delivered a spirited attack against the German positions in the wood of Avocourt. We occupied the southeastern corner of this wood for a depth of more than 300 yards, as well as an important work called the Redoubt of Avocourt, which the Germans had strongly fortified. A violent and sudden counter attack delivered by the enemy, with a fresh brigade which had arrived on the scene only a few days ago, was completely repulsed by us. The enemy suffered heavy losses, and left fifty prisoners in our hands."

"To the east of the River Meuse, there has been no activity on the part of opposing artillery forces in the region of Vaux and Dompmont, and in the Woëvre, in the sector of Moulinville. On the remainder of the front the night was quiet."

The following statement was given out by the German staff:

"South of St. Eloi, one of the mine craters occupied by the British, was wrested from them as a result of a hand grenade engagement."

"On the left bank of the Meuse, our troops, with little loss to themselves, stormed a French position north of Malancourt over a front of about 2000 metres (2220 yards). They also penetrated into the northwestern portion of Malancourt. The French left in our hands twelve officers and 486 unarmoured men, one gun and four machine guns. Examination of the prisoners taken enabled us to confirm the belief that two more French divisions (21,000 men) have been brought into the fighting."

TO MAKE ACID FROM AIR

Duponts Ask Government to Grant Free Water Power Rights.

Wilmington, Del., March 30.—If the United States government will grant them water power rights free under supervision and restrictions of the secretary of war the Dupont Powder company will build plants to take nitrogen from the air and produce nitric acid which is absolutely essential for the manufacture of powder in unlimited quantities.

This offer was made by Pierre S. Dupont, president of the company, in a letter to Secretary of War Baker. The only American source of supply now is Chile. The Germans are manufacturing their nitric acid from the air. The Duponts own the best foreign patent for the manufacture of nitrogen and nitric acid.

PLEAS TO ESCAPE SERVICE IN WAR

Englishmen Offer Many Fanciful Excuses to Tribunals.

SOON TO CALL MARRIED MEN

"Indispensable" Appeals Made by Artistic Sign Painter, Undertaker, Cartoonist, Champion Clog Dancer, Expert Sausage Cutter, Bible Packer and Hundreds of Others.

Military service tribunals, consisting of anywhere from seven to twenty members, are sitting throughout England hearing applications for exemption from men eligible for service at the front. Many complaints have been made to go up over the leniency shown by the tribunals to single men who have offered rather fantastic reasons for evading service in the army. Complete exemption has been granted in comparatively few cases, but postponements have been most frequent, and the tribunals now are being warned that every single man excused means the earlier calling out of the groups of married men attested under the Derby scheme.

There is every indication it will not be long when the first of the married men will be called to the colors. Thus far the married men in the army have gone only through voluntary enlistment. The compulsory service act does not apply to them as yet, but thousands have attested their readiness to serve when the supply of single men is exhausted.

Many single men, with mothers or sisters dependent upon them, are making the assertion that their domestic duties are just as sacred and just as deserving of the nation's consideration as those of the married men. They make the further plea that their family obligations were imposed on them through no act of their own, whereas the married men assumed liability for others through voluntary choice.

"If I am to be called away from the support of my widowed mother and three dependent sisters," said one young clerk, "I will be followed by the thought that they must eventually go to the workhouse, and I am sure that under the circumstances I would not make a very good soldier for the king." The tribunal thought otherwise.

Exemptions are sought upon the theory that the applicant is "indispensable" to the conduct of the business in which he is engaged. Often the pleas are made by the employer.

Artistic Painting Not Needed.

"This clerk manages my entire business and is absolutely indispensable," said one employer to the tribunal at Lewisham.

"And what do you pay him?" asked the chairman.

"Seventeen shillings sixpence a week."

The tribunal held that "absolute indispensability" was worthy of higher consideration than $4 a week, and the clerk was swept into the army.

One employer appealed for the exemption of an "artistic sign painter."

"In such a time of stress as this I think the country can get along with artistic signs," ruled the chairman.

At Liverpool an undertaker declared he was truly indispensable. The tribunal told him to "R. I. P." for six months. After that he must join the army, where there is much work to be done by those skilled in the burial of the dead.

The lord mayor of London, an enthusiastic worker for recruits, applied to the London tribunal for the exemption of a footman employed at the Mansion House. The application said it was in the national interest that Mansion House arrangements for recruiting the public work generally should not be disturbed. Sir T. Vezy Strong, the chairman, thought a postponement of one month sufficient to allow the lord mayor to make other arrangements.

A widow of Fenge obtained a three months' respite for her eligible son on the ground that he was indispensable to the conduct of her small laundry.

"He calls for and distributes the laundry," said she, "and does more ironing than any two women."

The tribunals face their greatest difficulty in dealing with the agricultural districts. Some farmers have gone to the extent of threatening to abandon their farms entirely if not allowed sufficient help. The tribunals now have adopted the policy of allowing three men to have 100 acres of farm land. In the meantime hundreds of thousands of women are being recruited for farm work.

A cartoonist thought himself indispensable because his drawings amused the soldiers at the front; "the champion clog dancer of the world" thought his supremacy in that art should not be endangered; "the best violin maker in England" felt he was needed at home; a popular "nut" of the music halls felt that London's indispensable revues would be failures without him; a buyer of silks, an "expert sausage cutter," a warehouse "samson" with remarkable lifting ability and a Bible packer all made pleas, but obtained exemption for brief periods only.

DR. WAITE SPENT $18,000 IN BRIBES

Dentist Declares He Paid Undertaker to Aid Defence.

New York, March 30.—Additional details of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite's activities to prepare a defence before he was arrested for the murder of John E. Peck, his millionaire father-in-law, were made to the district attorney, Edward Swann, by the prisoner himself from his bed at Bellevue hospital.

In addition to paying $5000 in cash and $4000 in a check to Eugene Kane, the undertaker who embalmed Mr. Peck's body, Dr. Waite told the prosecutor that he was to have paid Kane in all $25,000, out of which Kane was to bribe the druggist from whom the young dentist bought the arsenic from which Mr. Peck died, to keep silent. Detectives were searching for Kane.

In his confession Dr. Waite confessed that he killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Hannah Peck; that he gave disease germs to her, and shortly before she died dosed her with morphine. He also confessed that he later killed her husband with arsenic, and that his first tale that he bought arsenic for Mr. Peck at the Grand Rapids' millionaire druggist's request was false.

In making this confession, Dr. Waite represented himself as the victim of an evil influence which dominated him in his crimes, and which he personified as "the man from Egypt."

Dr. Waite's plot to secure the Peck fortune, his friends declare, was first conceived when his mind became unbalanced through the use of violet rays.

PLAY POLITICS IN MEXICAN CRISIS

Conditions Similar to Those Before Spanish War.

REPUBLICANS WANT ACTION

When President Wilson issued Statement Reflecting Upon Unnamed Persons Who Were Accused of Stirring Up Strife In Mexico There Were Many Who Guessed His Reference.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 30.—[Special.]— Political conditions as they relate to the war situation are somewhat similar to those which existed just before the conflict with Spain was precipitated upon the country. Then the Democrats insisted on pushing the Republican administration to greater activity for the relief of the Cubans. Now the Republican minority seems inclined to force the Democratic administration into more speed and vigor in dealing with the Mexican situation.

The Democrats in 1898 said they were not playing politics, and the Republicans say they are not playing politics now. And at the same time it does seem as if politics had a place in the complications now just as before the Spanish war.

Naming No Names.

When President Wilson issued his statement severely reflecting upon unnamed persons who were accused of stirring up strife in Mexico there were plenty of people who could have given a pretty shrewd guess as to whom he meant. The president has quite a list of persons whom he regards as very injurious to his administration and of course, as antagonistic to the government, for it is the habit of a president to regard the government and his administration as the same thing. It is quite well known that the president feels rather bitter toward a number of Republicans who he believes have been using the Mexican situation for party advantage. However, they are not generally included in the list of falsehood mongers to whom he has alluded.

Marshall in Debate.

Rather surprising but it is a fact that the vice president appears in several pages of debate in the senate. It was a point of order which had been raised and the vice president made inquiries regarding the law and the facts in much the same manner as a senator in a running debate. This was most unusual, but the senate has become accustomed to having Marshall do unusual things. He does not hesitate to assert that "the chair has some rights" and has made it plain that while he is in the chair he intends to exercise all the rights which are accorded a vice president. At best they are not much.

The Hard Working Man.

Congressman Moore of Pennsylvania was protesting against the attempt to force night sessions of the house, and during the course of his remarks he had something to say about the hard working men of this congress as follows: "Notwithstanding the criticism of the cheap paragraphers throughout the country, this is a hard working body. Notwithstanding the numerous contentions set up by lobbyists and others, no man works harder nor respects less the eight hour rule than the average member of congress."

What He Didn't Know.

"I have paid as much attention to this bill as a tenderfoot could," remarked Uncle Joe Cannon, speaking of the military bill, "but, frankly, what I do not know about what this bill will do when it is enacted into law will fill a book."

Many other members knew just as little about the bill as did the Illinois veteran, and yet it passed the house with only two votes recorded against
it. Outside of the members of the military committee and a few military experts few members of the house knew any more about it than Uncle Joe.

Similarity of Arguments.

After the same bill has passed two successive congresses, has been vetoed and then debated all over again in an effort to pass it over the veto there is not much that is new to be said about it. Why the house, when there was such a great pressure for time, should have given any time whatever to discussion of the immigration bill is almost surprising. It must have been because the same members wanted to make the same speeches they have made twice before.

Those Social Soldiers.

During the discussion of the military bill in the house there was a lament about the passing of those social soldier organizations which had figured in so many wars and so many banquets and non-warlike functions. One of these was the Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston. Then Mammy Moore made an eloquent address and paid high tribute to the City troop of Philadelphia. It is surprising that some one did not come forward with a word about the Richmond Blues, a crack company of the Old Dominion. It was asserted that as soldier organizations these companies would disappear in the nationalized militia.

Threatened Scarcity of Tin.

Most of the world's sources of tin ore are either stationary or receding in output. Bolivia of all countries alone giving promise of permanence and future growth.

THESE RESIDENTS MAKE A PROTEST

Outline their Position with Reference to Proposed Changes in County Rural Mail Delivery.

As has been the case in other sections of the county where the mail service has been changed or where changes are contemplated, the community adjoining Orrtanna which would be effected by a change in the service from that office is decidedly against any curtailment of the present arrangement. The following letter from Rev. P. F. Sullivan, in charge of St. Ignatius church, and petition clearly express the view taken by residents of that vicinity.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir:—

I enclose you herewith a copy of a petition which we are circulating in our region. It regards the changing of our mail service. The people of this entire Valley are opposed to this change. I think the newspapers of the County should help us in this fight for what is fair and just. I fear many of your subscribers will cancel their subscriptions if the change occurs.

If at all possible kindly publish this petition as it may help us to gain favor in this effort for a decent and prompt mail service.

Sincerely yours,

Rev. P. F. Sullivan.

The petition is as follows:—

Orrtanna, Post Office,

Pennsylvania,

March 25, 1916.

To the U. S. Post Office Officials,

Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

With profound regret and dissatisfaction have we, the Patrons of Route No. 2 R. F. D., Orrtanna, Penna., learned of the proposed change in the Mail Delivery Service of this region which becomes effective April 1st, 1916. For many years we have enjoyed the benefits and advantages of a splendid Rural Free Delivery and we prided ourselves upon the belief that ours was one of the best Rural Routes in this County.
In fact, this belief, as we thought, gave us assurance of the permanence of our Mail Service.

It is commonly thought that the Post Office Department has in the past and continues in the present to cater for the betterment of the Mail Service generally throughout the land but more particularly for the betterment of the Rural Service. The step, however, as contemplated is changing our Mail Service from Orrtanna to McKnightstown is a step in the wrong direction as regards the people of this region because it is the changing of our Route from a Railroad Post Office, which gives us a more direct service to a Star Route office which means as a consequence that cannot be avoided, the holding over for one night either our incoming or out-going mail.

This entire Route of twenty six miles is thickly populated and lies, for the most part, over a rough mountain road. By it 452 persons are served, represented by 83 families.
The greater number of these families live in a region or section not touched by a Railroad or Trolley line and hence, depend to no small extent, upon the Mail Service. This service in the past has been all that could be asked for from the Post Office Department. No doubt much of the credit for this should be given to the Postmaster at Orrtanna and to Mr. Charles Spence, who has served this Route, faithfully and well, for over 17 years.

Located along this Route is a church where Rector receives daily no small number of letters and pieces of printed matter. Moreover, the number of Parcel Post Packages received at this church and by the people of this region is exceptionally large for a Church in a Country district and for a people who live off of the products of their own fields. And the out-going mail is proportionately heavy. Besides, many of those living along this Route are engaged not only in tilling the fields but also in the operation of lumber mills and in the raising of fruit. Their business, in this particular, comes from people living at a distance. Letters asking for estimates on lumber are received almost daily. These letters demand a prompt reply. Moreover, the business of these men is now established as belonging to the Orrtanna Post Office and an endless amount of annoyance and trouble must ensue if the change takes place. Besides there are other persons engaged in business or who hold offices of one kind or another and there receive communications that dare not be denied prompt attention. Such considerations certainly deserve thought in the re-adjustment of Rural Routes.

In almost every house at least one Daily Newspaper is received and the people of this locality where way of intercourse with the neighboring towns and cities is difficult, desire their papers on the day of publication and not a day or two later. Under the existing order of Mail Service from Orrtanna, newspapers coming even from such distant cities as Baltimore and Philadelphia, are received the day of publication; under the change proposed, newspapers coming from such nearby towns as Gettysburg and Chambersburg, cannot be received until the day after publication and possibly later; at the present time letters posted in New York City can be received in less than twenty four hours; under the change proposed it would take at least two days to receive an answer to a letter sent to Gettysburg or Chambersburg.
Now is this fair to the people of the Rural Districts? Again we are now able to telephone to Gettysburg in the morning and have supplies and provisions delivered in the mail of that same day. Such would become an impossibility if the change goes into effect.

Another point worthy of consideration is the convenience accorded the people of this region by the fact that Express Packages received at the Orrtanna Express office can be transferred and conveniently delivered through the Local Parcel Post System. All in all the new order of Mail Delivery as proposed would greatly inconvenience hundreds of people in this region and cause them annoyance and trouble, and in many cases direct financial loss, for which there appears to be no warrant.

We as Patrons of the Rural Free Delivery in presenting this protest do so only in the interest of what is fair and just and what tends to the perfecting of the Rural Mail Service.
If our complaint as set forth does not seem worthy of recognition then we ask that some Representative of the Post Office Department look into conditions here in this region and we feel that our request will be granted.

Considering, therefore, the facts as above stated as reasonable and fair and perceiving no sufficient cause why our present Mail Service should be disrupted when it gives ample satisfaction to each and every one of us we, whose names are here with subjoined, protest most vigorously against this change and petition most earnestly the Post Office Department to allow to continue through Mr.
Charles Spence, an efficient, honest and faithful carrier, our daily Mail Service from Orrtanna Post Office.

Why ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS

It did not take much arguing or preaching to convince you of the difference in gasolines—you felt it in the first clean, sharp explosion, in the snappy way your car took the hills, in the increased mileage of your Atlantic-fed motor. Atlantic Gasoline is the accepted standard. You buy it by name. Not one man in forty would risk getting a mongrel gasoline by asking merely for "five gallons of gas."

The problem of right motor oil is as important, if not more so, than that of the right gasoline. Your car, with the right motor oil, will show an increase in mileage just as surely as you noted the difference between Atlantic Gasoline and the common kind.

Listen: In actual test, cars show as much as five miles more to the gallon of gas when the right motor oil is used. And increased mileage is only part of the benefits that come from using the right oil. You have practical freedom from carbon, your bearings are properly oiled, your cylinder-walls are never parched.

Friction is what makes your car depreciate so rapidly. You can stop that appalling decline in value by giving real study to the problem of proper lubrication. The Atlantic Refining Company is the oldest and largest manufacturer of lubricating oils in the world. We have given this problem of motor oils study and experimentation that a plant of less size and experience cannot possibly give.

The result of our investigations is a group of four motor oils: Atlantic Polarine, Atlantic Motor Oil Medium, Atlantic Motor Oil Light, and Atlantic Motor Oil Heavy. Polarine is the famous all-year-round oil that has proven the right lubricant for eight out of ten cars. But occasionally, conditions arise that demand an oil of different consistency. Right here is where you turn to the other Atlantic Motor Oils, for among them is at least one that will meet the requirements of your car under any driving conditions. Ask your garageman which.

Read up on this subject. We have published a handsome and comprehensive book about lubrication. It is free. Ask your garage for it. If they cannot supply you, drop us a postal and the book will be sent you without charge.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Sheridan's attempt to make a business man of his son Bibbs by starting him in the machine shop ends in Bibbs going to a sanitarium, a nervous wreck.

CHAPTER II—On his return Bibbs is met at the station by his sister Edith.

CHAPTER III—He finds himself an inconsiderable and unconsidered figure in the "New House" of the Sheridans. He sees Mary Vertrees looking at him from a summer house next door.

CHAPTER IV.

Mr. Vertrees, having watched their departure with the air of a man who had something at hazard upon the expedition, turned from the window and began to pace the library thoughtfully, pending their return. He was about sixty; a small man, withered and dry and fine, a trim little sketch of the elderly dandy. His lambrquin mustache, like his smooth hair, was approaching an equally sheer whiteness; and though his clothes were old, they had shapeliness and a flavor of mode.

The room was cheerful and hideous. Under a mantle of imitation black marble a merry little coal fire beamed forth upon high and narrow "Eastlake" bookcases with long glass doors, comfortable, incongruous furniture, half a dozen Landseer engravings which Mr. and Mrs. Vertrees sometimes mentioned to each other, after thirty years of possession, as "very fine things." They had been the first people in town to possess Landseer engravings, and there, in art, they had rested, but they still had a feeling that in all such matters they were in the van.

The growth of the city, which might easily have made Mr. Vertrees a millionaire, had ruined him because he had failed to understand it. When towns begin to grow they have whims, and the whims of a town always ruin somebody. The dainty little man was one of the first to fall down and worship Bigness. He was a true prophet of the prodigious growth, but he had a fatal gift for selling good and buying bad. He sold his inherited office building and house in town to buy lots; then he sold his farm, except the house and the ground about it, to pay taxes on the lots. But he had to do something to keep himself and his family up, so in despair he sold the lots (which went up beautifully the next year) for "traction stock" that was paying dividends; and disappeared altogether from the commercial surface at about the time James Sheridan came out securely on top.

But there came a day when three servitors of Bigness in Philadelphia took greedy counsel with four fellow worshippers from New York, and not long after that there were no more dividends for Mr. Vertrees. In fact, there was nothing for Mr. Vertrees, because the "traction stock" henceforth was no stock at all, and he had mortgaged his house long ago to help "manage somehow" according to his conception of his "position in life"—one of his own old-fashioned phrases. Mr. Vertrees had discovered, too, that there was no salary for him in all the buzzing city—he could do nothing.

It may be said that he was at the end of his string. Such times do come in all their bitterness, finally, to the man with no trade or craft, if his feeble clutch on that slippery ghost, Property, shall fail.

The windows grew black while he paced the fan-shaped zone of freight. But as the mantle clock struck wheezily six there was the rattle of an outer door, and Mary Vertrees came rushing into the library and threw herself into a deep chair by the hearth, laughing so uncontrollably that tears were in her eyes. Mrs. Vertrees followed decorously, no mirth about her; on the contrary, she looked vaguely disturbed, as if she had eaten something not quite certain to agree with her, and regretted it.

"Papa! Oh, oh!" And Miss Vertrees was fain to apply a handkerchief upon her eyes. "I'm so glad you made us go! I wouldn't have missed it!"

Mrs. Vertrees shook her head. "I suppose I'm very dull," she said, gently. "I didn't see anything amusing. They're most ordinary, and the house is altogether in bad taste, but we anticipated that, and—"

"Papa! Mary cried, breaking in. "They asked us to dinner!"

"What?"

"And I'm going!" she shouted, and was seized with fresh paroxysms. "Think of it! Never in their house before; never met any of them but the daughter—and just barely met her!"

"What about you?" interrupted Mr. Vertrees, turning sharply upon his wife.

She made a little face as if positive now that what she had eaten would not agree with her. "I couldn't!" she said. "I—"

"Yes, that's just—just the way she—she looked when they asked her!" cried Mary, choking. "And then she—she realized it, and tried to turn it into a cough, and she didn't know how, and it sounded like—like a sneeze!"

She did. She had a look that worshipful girl friends called "regal." A head taller than her father, she was as straight and jauntily poised as a boy athlete; and her brown hair and her brown eyes were like her mother's, but for the rest she went back to some

"I Know Exactly What You Want Me to Do."

stronger and livelier ancestor than either of her parents.

"Don't I look too rich to be suspected?" she insisted.

"You look everything beautiful, Mary," he said, huskily.

"And my dress?" She threw open her dark velvet cloak, showing a splendor of white and silver. "Anything better at Nice next winter, do you think?" She laughed, shrouding her glittering figure in the cloak again.

"Two years old, and no one would dream it! I did it over."

"You can do anything, Mary."

There was a curious humility in his tone, and something more—a significance not veiled and yet abysmally apologetic. It was as if he suggested something to her and begged her forgiveness in the same breath.

And upon that, for the moment, she became as serious as he. She lifted her hand from his shoulder and then set it back more firmly, so that he should feel the reassurance of his pressure.

"Don't worry," she said, in a low voice and gravely. "I know exactly what you want me to do."

A rooster that crowed and betrayed a Yonkers chicken thief was the only one in a meat sack whose neck he had not wrung.

A fall on the head on an icy sidewalk corrected a Pittsfield (Mass.) man's vision, for which he had had to wear glasses for several years.

A letter written in 1864 by a Union soldier has been delivered to his brother in California, but where it had been for half a century no one knows.

Mulch For Winter Wheat.

In sections where there is more straw than can be used to good advantage for stock feeding and bedding some of this material may be used to good advantage as a mulch for winter wheat, says the Country Gentleman.

The South Dakota experiment station in a test at Enreka farm has learned the value of such practice.

In November, 1914, after the ground froze, part of a field was mulched with three loads of straw to the acre. The wheat in this part made a good winter survival and yielded an excellent crop, while fields that were not mulched both on corn stubble and summer fallow were totally winter killed. In such cases the mulching would pay in spite of the labor.

Approximately three tons of straw an acre should be used after the wheat has become dormant for the winter. Old straw piles which are more or less rotten can be spread to better advantage than fresh straw piles, but either may be used. The old straw may be spread with an ordinary manure spreader, but fresh straw requires a special implement known as a straw spreader.

The straw must be spread very thinly and evenly for best results, as the wheat will smother out under thick bunches and kill out on bare spots if the straw is not properly spread.

Dad's Portion.

"I notice an eastern paper runs an attractive mothers' department headed 'Frocks and Frills.'"

"Some of these papers," growled the old man, "ought to run a fathers' department headed 'Shocks and Bills.'"

YES—IT IS POSSIBLE TO STOP RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is a tormenting and stubborn malady. In some cases it yields to treatment which is without avail in other cases.

The darting pains, lame muscles or stiffened joints only disappear by gradually expelling the uric acid, and so many thousands have been relieved by the blood-enriching oil-fund in Scott's Emulsion that you should give it a faithful trial. Scott's Emulsion acts as a powerful blood-purifier by increasing the red corpuscles and it strengthens the organs to carry off the acids which cause the trouble.

Try Scott's Emulsion. It cannot harm. It has helped thousands and may be exactly what you need. No Alcohol.

U. S. CAN USE MEXICAN RAILWAY

Carranza Gives Permission to Ship Supplies.

WILL NOT MOVE TROOPS

The First Chief's Concession Will Greatly Aid Pershing's Army Pursuing the Bandit Villa.

Washington, March 30.—General Carranza has agreed to permit the movement of supplies over the Mexican-Northwestern railway to the American punitive expedition, which is hunting Francisco Villa in Mexico. The supplies will go as commercial freight to concerns in Mexico with which the army has contracts. The permission is not granted in a military sense, and does not cover the movement of troops, for which the American army has not asked. It will, however, enable General Pershing's force to get supplies in abundance in a country where motor truck trains cannot carry them, and thus will aid immeasurably in the pursuit of the Villa bandits.

Carranza's decision was reported in the state department by Special Representative Rodgers at Queretaro, to whom instructions were telegraphed to insist upon immediate reply from the first chief to the request made by the United States.

Mr. Rodgers was told to press the railroad problem as an issue separate from the protocol which Carranza has suggested to the United States, to govern co-operation of American and constitutional troops in pursuing the Villa bandits. The protocol still is under consideration by the state department and several weeks may pass before it is ratified by both governments.

Conditions on the east and west coasts of Mexico were reported to the navy department as generally satisfactory. From Tampico came word of apparent improvement. The state department announced the receipt of reports of lawlessness in the Laguna region. It was said that General Trevino has arrived at Torreon, and will start an energetic campaign against the lawless element.

Accident Shows Pershing Using R. R.

San Antonio, Tex., March 30.—Confirmation of reports that General Pershing already has been using a part of the Mexican Northwestern railroad for transportation of troops has been received by General Funston from what is said to be an unofficial source. This information included a report of the overturning of two cars, the killing of one member of the Tenth Cavalry and the injuring of nine others.

The dead trooper, according to a dispatch from Columbus, N. M., is George A. Hudnell, colored, of Troop B. He leaves a widow at Fort Huachuca, Ariz. He received a military burial March 24, at Las Horcas ranch. His is the first death reported from the punitive expedition.

PUSHING ON VILLA'S HEELS

Pershing's Troops Relentlessly Pursue Fleeing Bandit.

El Paso, Tex., March 30.—The hunt for Villa by flying columns of American cavalry, continued relentlessly, but from the meagerness of official dispatches from Brigadier General Pershing's advance base, it was impossible to learn the position of the American troops and how far they were in the rear of the fleeing bandits.

Villa was moving toward Santa Catarina, in the Santa Maria valley, four days ago, according to information obtained by Colonel Dodd, commanding the advance columns of cavalry. General Pershing wired to Major General Funston at San Antonio, his command was driving their horses at full speed.

General Pershing reported that residents of the valley appeared friendly to Villa, adding it was with difficulty that scouts with the American troops had learned anything from them.

General Pershing is said to have quit the Carranza forces, leaving the Mexican soldiers to garrison the towns and taking the field with an independent force in order not to be handicapped by the slower moving Mexican cavalry and infantry.

Villa Bands Heading North.

Casas Grandes, Mexico, by wireless to Columbus, N. M., March 30.—Scouts have brought reports to headquarters of sighting a Villa detachment fifty miles from here, the farthest north Villista troops have been seen since the raid on Columbus. This indicates he is splitting his band for safety, and forage. A clash with American forces has been avoided thus far.

Car Men Get Wage Boost.

Lancaster, Pa., March 30.—The Conestoga Traction company postal notices in its offices here announcing an increase in wages to its employees, ranging from ten to twenty per cent, according to length of service, to take effect May 1. About 400 employees are affected.

Manganese Sold at $1000 a Ton. Pittsburgh, Pa., March 30.—It became known that a carload of ferromanganese, a steel alloy, was sold recently to a steel manufacturer of this district on a basis of $1000 a ton, a record price. Before the war manganese was selling at $38 a ton.

Requirements of Genius.

Of the three requisitions of genius, the first is soul, and the second soul, and the third soul.—E. P. Whipple.

MCGRATH GETS STAY

Court to Examine Testimony Against Roosevelt's Secretary.

New York, March 30.—A stay of sentence was granted to John W. McGrath, secretary to Theodore Roosevelt, and lately acting secretary of the Progressive national committee, who was committed to the workhouse for thirty days on a charge of disorderly conduct and assault.

The complainant was Charles Light, Jr., a Brooklyn, who alleged McGrath and William Powers assaulted him in a restaurant in Brooklyn last June.

Colonel Roosevelt has announced he will stand by his secretary. He expressed indignation at the sentence, asserting McGrath would remain in his service.

The sentence was stayed by the court pending examination of testimony. McGrath's case will be reached tomorrow, probably. Meantime, he is confined in the Brooklyn county jail.

PENNA. STREAMS OVERFLOW BANKS

Rivers in State Reach Flood Stage.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 30.—Streams swollen by the rain of Tuesday continued to rise yesterday and passed the flood stage in many places.

The Juniata river reached the highest point in eight years and members of the state water supply commission believed the maximum probably had been reached.

The Susquehanna river passed the flood stage of seventeen feet at Harrisburg and was expected to reach nineteen feet before the water receded.

Contrary to expectations, the flood mark in the Ohio river at Pittsburgh was barely reached when the stream became stationary. Damage to property was confined principally to the Allegheny river section although the lowlands along the Ohio were under water.

The lowlands around Sunbury were flooded by high water in the two branches of the Susquehanna and dozens of Snyder county towns were cut off from mail service by impassable roads.

PENNYPACKER VERY ILL

Ex-Governor is Losing Strength Daily in Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, March 30.—Former Governor Pennypacker, whose failure to respond to medical treatment since he was brought here, three weeks ago, is causing members of his family concern, was ordered to bed by his physicians.

The ex-governor appears to be losing strength daily. Failure of pacifists to quiet the storm against his reelection to the presidency of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania was a disappointment to the ex-governor. He has maintained steadily that his feelings respecting international affairs and his criticism of the administration at Washington have nothing whatever to do with the affairs of the Historical society.

Machine Breaks, Kills Two.

Wilmington, Del., March 30.—Two men were almost instantly killed at the Carney's Point plant of the Dupont Powder company, when the clamping ring in the head of a powder press broke, sending flying pieces of metal in every direction. Both men were struck by fragments. They were Cornelius Sullivan, 135 Carpenter street, Salem, N. J., and Charles A. Huestin, 799 Lafayette avenue, Brooklyn.

For Sunday Night Suppers.

KIDNEY STEW.—One beef kidney, about one pound, one small onion, one cupful of vinegar, one cupful of water, one small piece of suet, one bay leaf, one tablespoonful of flour, one tablespoonful of butter, one clove, pepper and salt to taste. Place the suet in a deep saucepan. Chop the onion fine and put it in the pan with the suet to brown. Cut the kidney into small pieces and add it to the browned onion. Allow to simmer for five minutes. Add clove, bay leaf, pepper and salt, vinegar and water. Simmer briskly for about twenty minutes. Then take a tablespoonful of flour and brown it in a tablespoonful of butter. Add this to the stew and allow it to come to a boil. Serve on toast.

Steak Birds.—A tasty way to cook round steak is by making small birds. Have the steak cut thin and then cut it into pieces about three inches square. Make dressing as you would for fowl, fill the pieces of steak with it, double them over and tie with a cord. Roll in flour, put into a baking pan with enough hot water to baste and bake until tender. Lay the birds on a platter and serve with a garnish of parsley.

Angelo on Horselack.—Use three large oysters to a person, wrap each oyster in a very thin slice of fat bacon, then arrange on steel skewers, three oysters on a skewer, with about one inch space between each oyster. Dip in batter and fry in deep fat, four or five to ten minutes. Serve hot with melted butter on stewed onion and triangular slices of buttered toast from which the crusts were removed before toasting.

Batter for above: One cupful of sifted flour, one egg, well beaten; one-half cupful of milk, a pinch of salt, one saltspoonful of baking powder.

Scalloped Fish.—Three cupfuls of cooked fish, three cupfuls of milk, three tablespoonfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of butter, two eggs, one tea spoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of chopped onion, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Pick over and wash the fish into small pieces. Blend the flour, butter and milk together into a cream sauce. Boil this a few minutes and then add the eggs, well beaten. Add fish, salt, pepper and onion, also parsley. Sometimes we add thin slices of potatoes, but usually not. Put into a buttered baking dish and cover with fine breadcrumbs and dot with pieces of butter. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven.

Pear Orchards Profitable.

Pear orchards, where conditions are favorable, may be more profitable than an apple orchard, for the reason that pears are not so generally grown as apples. The pear delights in a clay soil and is not so apt to crop regularly on a loamy soil, and trees on the latter seem more susceptible to attacks from disease than the former.

When the orchard is first set, even though the ground is not yet ready to advantage, cultivation should be discontinued early in July and a cover crop of vetch or clover sowed. In cultivating in orchards of any kind care must be exercised not to cultivate deeply near the trees. Late cultivation is not desirable around trees of any kind, as it encourages late growth instead of permitting the wood to harden sufficiently before winter weather sets in. As the trees grow older more fertilizer will be required. Pear trees require but light pruning each year, shortening back the new growth, and the trees must be regularly sprayed. Where heavy crops set the fruit should be thinned, as is common with peaches.

Easy & Practical Home Dress Making Lessons

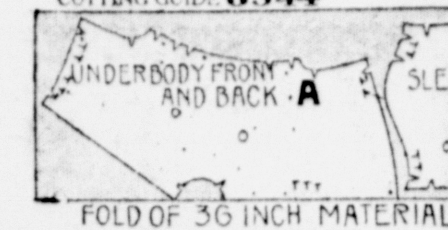

Prepared Especially For This Newspaper by Pictorial Review

Evening Gown With Charming New Sleeves.

The winged sleeves of chiffon give the "something different" air to this dress of white satin. A vest of silver lace is also a prominent detail of the bodice.

CUTTING GUIDE 6544

Pictorial Review Waist No. 6544. Sizes 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Price, 15 cents. Skirt No. 6378. Sizes 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist. Price, 15 cents.

When in quest of an evening gown, be sure to select something novel, even though the novelty of the design is achieved through the smallest detail. Flowing sleeves of chiffon strike the unusual note in this evening frock of white satin crepe. The skirt has a simple tunic gathered at the waist-line and joined to the bodice under a soft grade of self-material. A satin cord outlines the pointed outer-front, while the round neck and upper sleeves are hemstitched.

In medium size the costume requires 7 yards 36-inch crepe, with 2½ yards 36-inch chiffon for the wing sleeves.

The process of cutting is greatly simplified because the underbody back and front are cut in one piece. This section of the pattern is laid on a lengthwise fold of the material, and to the right of it is placed the upper sleeve on a lengthwise thread. The collar and peplum are also laid on a lengthwise fold, but between these are sandwiched the outer front of the bodice, laid on a lengthwise thread. The back and the cuff are also laid on a lengthwise thread. The winged sleeves are not included in the pattern, but may be cut in triangular shape and draped to suit the fancy.

For round or V-shaped neck, cut out neck edge of underbody on indicating single small "o" perforations. If desired without sleeves entirely, cut out along small "o" perforations near the arm-hole.

When the sleeves are omitted straps of velvet or satin are substituted. They are draped low over the arm and edged, perhaps with one or two lace frills.

(Medical Advertising) USE "TIZ" FOR SORE.

TIRED, ACHING FEET

No more puffed-up, burning, sweaty, calloused feet or corns. Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz". It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz". It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous excretions which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ask how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

(Medical Advertising) DIZZINESS IS ANNOYING

As Many Gettysburg People Know Too Well.

When the kidneys are weak or disordered, they fall behind in filtering the blood of poisons. As these poisons attack the nerves, the result is felt in spells of vertigo, just as drunkenness will make a man dizzy from the poisoning of alcohol. Dizziness, headache, nausea are all signs of weak or disordered kidneys and should not be neglected. Like Doan's Kidney Pills, the home endorsed kidney remedy. Read this Gettysburg resident's statement:

Mrs. M. J. Hamilton, 9 Steinwehr Ave., Gettysburg, says: "Backache gave me much misery and frequently I had dizzy spells and headaches. My kidneys were irregular in action and this made me weak. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at The People's Drug Store, gave me excellent benefit and I never hesitate to speak highly of them."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Hamilton had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

A LIFE-SAVING EXHIBIT

One of the features in the Palace of Education at the Panama-Pacific Exposition which attracted widespread attention was the Exhibit of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health.

Physicians, public health workers, sanitarians and hundreds of thousands of people studied with keen interest the display which showed the ten years of work in this Commonwealth to protect and improve health conditions. For months before the exhibition opened, artists, model makers, draftsmen, plaster modelers were busily engaged in constructing the interesting models which showed in marvelous detail all of the buildings of the Tuberculosis Sanatoria at Mont Alto, Cresson and Hamburg. These were constructed on a scale of one-sixteenth of an inch to the foot.

The accurate and artistic reproduction of these buildings in themselves made up a feature of the exhibit which offered opportunities for study to hospitals and health authorities from all over the United States.

There were models showing how epidemics of typhoid fever have been caused, models of schoolhouses showing proper ventilation and arrangement of buildings and second, models of children showing correct and incorrect posture and many others equally interesting and fascinating.

This exhibit, which was planned and constructed under the supervision of Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon, was shipped at the close of the Exposition to Philadelphia and will be erected at the Academy of Natural Sciences on Logan Square, where it will be open to the public for some time to come.

Following its display in Philadelphia it will probably be taken to other large centers of population in the State.

REPUBLICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT IN CHINA

Mikado Shall Never Rule In Peking, Chinese Declare.

By TSE YUNG SOON, Editor in Chief of the Chinese Students' Monthly.

That the republican form of government has come to stay in China is evidenced by the appointment of Mr. Kai Fu Shah as diplomatic adviser to the Chinese foreign office at Peking. Mr. Kai Fu Shah preceded Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo as China's minister at Washington.

It is recalled here that Mr. Shah never wavered in his loyalty to the Chinese republic. His appointment is as acceptable to his Chinese admirers in America as to his many American friends. While the mandate giving the vaticum to the monarchial movement may have surprised some Americans, it is no surprise to Chinese who know their country and realize what a firm hold republicanism has taken in China.

Everything points to the fact that political sentiment in China is solidly republican. A plain admission of this fact is the mandate signed by Mr. Hsu Shi Chang, who has returned to the cabinet as secretary of state, telling the world that Yuan Shih Kai "rejects the emperorship and resumes the presidency."

A great error has been made by a certain New York newspaper where it hastily assumes that China has become "the milch cow of Japan." That Japan has already achieved her ambition, which is to secure by stratagem or force, by fair means or foul, an overlordship over China. The truth is absolutely otherwise.

China is united to a rare in the determination that neither in spirit nor in letter shall the dream of the Japanese jingoes be realized—that the mikado shall never rule in Peking. For that reason it is that the Chinese republicans, who were willing to give their lives for their principles, are now heartened, because moderation among those sincere if relatively few Chinese monarchists will enable all China to stand shoulder to shoulder in defense of the Chinese fatherland.

The practical sympathy of republican America is needed and sought by Chinese republicans. They rejoice that they can now ask for that sympathy as brothers in the great cause of government by the people for the people and not by the few for the few.
